UNION STUDIES STEEL ULTIMATUM

Twp. 'Blasts' Crumbling 'Walks' Session

Levittown's crumbling curbs and sidewalks came in for another blast at last night's meeting of the Bristol Township Board of Commissioners.

Mention of the curbs and sidewalks has long been the cause of heated discussions at the meetings of municipal governments in the Levittown area.

Bristol, Falls and Middletown Township have been plagued with deteriorating sidewalks. All three municipalities have been trying to find some way to make Levitt and Sons, Inc., repair or replace the sidewalks and curbs.

Last night Bristol Township Commissioner Louis D. Rossi proposed the township file court action against Levitt.

It was pointed out that since the township has accepted the streets in Levittown the firm no longer has any responsibility for the repair of the curbs and sidewalks.

William Carlin, township solicitor, told Rossi the township would have to prove fraud or collusion between the firm and the former Board of Commissioners.

William J. O'Neill, board president, appointed a three-man committee to study the situation and see if there were any grounds for such a suit. The committee, headed by Rossi, will check over minutes of past meetings with Oscar

A. Booz, township secretary, and over plans and specifications for the sidewalks and curbs.

The township has been partially successful in past negotiations with Levitt. The firm is now repairing some paving in the June-wood, Kenwood sections. This is in accord with an agreement by which the township accepted title to streets in Indian Creek.

However, the firm has resisted other township attempts for repairs.

Middletown Township Supervisors have reached a tentative agreement with Levitt for repairs of streets and curbing in some sections of that township.

Middletown has held off accepting streets in four areas of Levittown in the Highland Park and Twin Oaks sections.

Negotiations between Middletown and Levitt are now centered on how much repair work Levitt will do on streets the township has already accepted.

Falls Township supervisors have decided that "only moral pressure" can be brought against Levitt to repair crumbling curbs and sidewalks in the municipality.

The supervisors said the FHA had been notified of the complaints of residents and the housing body promised to write Levitt and ask him to take remedial action.

Secret Session Called

NEW YORK (UPI)—The 33-member board of the United Steelworkers Union's Wage Policy Committee convened today to discuss the steel industry's proposal to extend wage contract negotiations beyond next Tuesday midnight as the only means of averting a nationwide strike.

David J. McDonald, president of the union, called the session to order at 10:25 a. m. e.d.t. It was held behind closed doors in the ballroom of the Roosevelt Hotel. The meeting broke up shortly after noon, McDonald said that a recommendation had been agreed upon for submission to the full 171-man wage policy committee this afternoon. He declined to say what it was.

The industry's proposal was to be further considered by the union's full 171-man Wage Policy Committee at another session beginning at 2 p. m. e.d.t.

Will Discuss Deadline
McDonald declined to make known what recommendations he would make to the executive board. He said that under usual procedure the board would discuss the negotiations deadline in detail before making any decision.

The union's decision, he said, would not be made public until after the full committee session this afternoon.

Industry's proposal, advanced by R. Conrad Cooper, executive vice president of the U.S. Steel Corp., was regarded in some sources as virtually a 24-hour ultimatum to the union.

Cooper urged that negotiations be continued indefinitely, with either side free to break the truce upon giving ten days' written notice. The expiration date of the present contract is midnight June 30.

The chief negotiator for industry warned that "if a strike is to take place at midnight June 30, it will be necessary to commence closing down some activities on June 26 (Friday)."

Accordingly, Cooper continued, the orderly continuation of operations requires "a meeting of minds" no later than today.

David J. McDonald, president of the Steelworkers union, said he would present the companies' proposal to the policy committee today. He refused to say what his recommendations would be.

Cooper reiterated industry's demand for a one-year wage freeze. He told reporters that the twelve biggest steel companies were determined to hold the line on labor costs.

U. S. HIRED FIRST WOMEN WORKERS IN 1862
The United States Treasury was the first division of the federal government to employ women workers. Because of the shortage of men during the War Between the States, the Treasury began hiring women to cut and count paper money in 1862. 'What's Your Hurry,' Quips Starkweather; Dies In Chair

LINCOLN, Neb. (UPI)—Charles Starkweather, redhaired confessed slayer of 11 persons, went calmly to his death in Nebraska's electric chair early today.

Five charges of electricity were pumped into the body of the 20-year-old killer who committed 10 knife and rifle slayings in a bloody reign of terror in January of 1958. He later admitted an 11th slaying.

Dr. P. E. Getsher pronounced the killer dead at 2:05 a.m., e.d.t., only four minutes after he walked into the chamber.

Ironically, Dr. B. A. Finkle, veteran prison physician, who was to have pronounced the killer dead, collapsed at the prison only minutes before the execution, and it was announced shortly after

CHARLES STARKWEATHER

Starkweather's death that the doctor had died of an apparent heart attack. Finkle was in his 70's.

Dr. Getsher was joined in the death chamber at the last minute by Dr. George Lewis Jr. Lewis hastily summoned after Finkle's collapse, entered the prison gates on the run at 2 a.m. The execution was not delayed.

Starkweather merely shook his head negatively when Deputy Warden John Greenholtz asked him whether he had a last statement. But earlier, he made an apparent attempt at humor when Greenholtz entered his cell to announce it was time to go.

"What's your hurry?" Starkweather was quoted by the deputy warden. Earlier in the evening, the slayer told a guard, "I had a feeling that tonight was the night."

Starkweather entered the small, garishly lighted chamber at 2:01 a.m. and walked quickly to the large oaken chair. He shot the 40 spectators a quick glance.

His head was shaved and he was pale. A gar was close on either side but he did not appear to need their help. He was seated and asked whether he had anything to say. He shook his head, and officials began the grim job of preparing him for death.

Lower Bucks Red Cross Reorganizes

Sweeping changes have been made in the organization of the Lower Bucks County Chapter of the American Red Cross.

The directors, meeting in special session this week, approved the reorganization by revising the unit's by-laws.

A major change in the by-laws is that now only four persons can serve as chapter officers. Also, all board members must be duly elected to serve.

Emerson Miller has been elected chairman of the board of directors. Other officers named at the annual meeting last April were Robert Parker, vice chairman; Mrs. Harry Neher, secretary; and Jack Wyker, treasurer.

Also serving on the executive committee, along with the officers, are Mrs. Adolph Ancker, Mrs. Carlton Leedom, William Henwood and M. L. Madway.

Board Members
Eleven persons have been elected to the board of directors to date. They include:

Mrs. James Douglass, William Ingraham, Mrs. Carlton Leedom, M. L. Madway, Richard Marshall, Robert Parker, Harry Rohrbach, Mrs. John Watkins, Jack Wyker, Frank Flatch, and Sandy Oppenheimer.

Board members elected before the annual meeting last April are Mrs. Adolph Ancker, Mrs. John Beiler, George G. Gray, William Henwood, Dr. John J. McGraw Jr., Henry M. O'Brien, Mrs. Arnold Pierce, Edward Walters, Emerson Miller, and Mrs. Harry Neher.

General Committee chairmen are M. L. Madway, finances; Mrs. Carlton Leedom, volunteers; William Henwood, fund-raising; Edward Schwartz, personnel; and Sandy Oppenheimer, public information.

Program Committee chairmen include: Mrs. Walter Carlson, blood; Richard Marshall, disaster; Stafford Caldwell, first aid; Paul Sterling, home service; Mrs. Durwood LaMont, Junior Red Cross; Mrs. Marion McPartland, nursing; and Rocco Dattola, water safety.

Humidity On Upswing Here

The temperature and the humidity were racing neck and neck today and no matter what happens, everyone loses.

Thick June weather with humidity over 90 per cent and temperatures over 80 degrees were expected to last today, tonight and tomorrow in Lower Bucks.

Showers forecast for tonight are not expected to offer any relief to the sultry summer weather.

Tomorrow's forecast calls for humid weather, showers likely, and temperatures about 80 degrees during the day.

Heavyweight Title Go Off

NEW YORK (UPI)—The Floyd Patterson - Ingemar Johansson heavyweight title fight was postponed today from tonight to tomorrow night because of rain and wet grounds at Yankee Stadium.

"I consulted with the New York boxing commission and the people at Yankee Stadium," promoter Bill Rosensohn said. "The infield was very muddy and in deference to the public we have postponed the bout until tomorrow night."

48,900,000 Americans Seen Dead If H-Bomb War Starts

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A Civil Defense official estimated today that 48,900,000 Americans would die of blast, fire, or radiation in an H-bomb war between the United States and Russia.

Another 20 million would suffer serious injuries but "could be expected to recover."

All of the 128,100,000 survivors would be menaced to some degree by local or worldwide fallout.

This estimate of the price of nuclear war was presented by Eugene J. Quindlen of the Office of Civil Defense and Mobilization (OCDM) at a hearing by a congressional atomic energy subcommittee.

Rep. Chet Holifield (D-Calif.), committee chairman, said the figures should help "in evaluating our military and foreign policy... built around the central factor of nuclear weapon offense and defense."

He also commented that "we have not faced up to the problem of the survival of our civilian population in the event of nuclear attack."

People Not Protected
Holifield echoed the view of several expert witnesses who said the people are completely unprotected and unprepared. Measures could be taken, he said, which "would save tens of millions of human lives in the event of nuclear war."

The subcommittee had asked the OCDM to base its calculations on the assumption that the Russians hit 234 U.S. city and military targets with 263 hydrogen bombs.

The targets include 70 so-called "critical target areas," consisting of centers of population and industry, and 154 Air Force, Atomic Energy Commission, Navy and Army installations.

Quindlen did not break down his casualty totals for individual target areas but said he would present such regional figures Friday.

Half Die Immediately
He said that of the 48,900,000 estimated dead, 23 million would be killed the day of the attack. The other 25,900,000 would be so (Continued on Page 3 Col. 8)

Tow-Truck Driver Arrested, Fails To Obey Police Order

A too-eager tow-truck driver was arrested last night in Lower Makefield as he attempted to tow a car away from the scene of an accident without the owner's permission, police said today.

The charges against Norman Sellinger, 19, of RD 1 Newtown, police said, will read, "interference with the duties of a police officer."

Sellinger, who is presently out on $50 bail, will get a hearing before Justice of the Peace Kenneth H. Werts at 4 p.m. Monday.

According to police, Sellinger hooked his tow truck to a vehicle involved in an accident at Makefield and Edgewood Roads at 8:30 p.m. The car is owned by Frank Doho, Jr., 17 of Pittsburgh.

Officer Charles Ronaldo ordered Sellinger to unhook the Doho car, since neither the owner or the police had given permission to tow it away. Sellinger failed to obey the order and started to

3 Fires In 5 Minutes
Keep Firemen Moving

Bristol Borough firemen had to put three fires out within about five minutes, yesterday evening.

The first fire call was a section of railroad ties on Bath St. at 6:24 p.m. Four minutes later, the firemen were called on to put out a grass fire on Prospect St. at another railroad tie fire on Beaver St.

Consolidated Fire Company and Goodwill Fire Co., Bristol, put all fires out without any difficulty.

Doho was treated for a cut on the right leg and Steven Young, 16, of 163 South Main St., Yardley, a passenger in the Doho car, suffered a sprained foot.

Damage to each vehicle amounted to $350, police said. Foote will receive a summons for failing to stop at a stop sign.

Middletown Police Hike Starting Pay

Middletown Township Supervisors voted last night to increase the starting salary of police officers to $75 a week.

The township had been paying a $65 a week starting salary. Despite one of the highest police salaries in the county, the township has had difficulty in recruiting new policemen.

In other action at last night's meeting, Martin and Miriam Malkasian withdrew their petition for the right to open a delicatessen store in a residential section of the township.

The withdrawal was made for "at least six months."

Previous Debate

The supervisors said that if the Malkasians waited more than seven months, they would have to pay full costs for readvertising the zoning request.

The proposed store at Second and Woodburne Aves. had been debated at two previous meetings of the township supervisors and three meetings of the township planning commission.

The supervisors voted to wait until Wednesday to open bids for the installation of traffic signals in the township. This was done in an attempt to get more bids on the project.

A letter from Dr. Joseph Still, Bucks County Health Director, was read at the meeting.

Answering a request from the township supervisors that the county police clinic be operated on non-profit basis, Dr. Still said the county clinic was operated as close to a break-even cost as possible.

Dr. Still said the Salk Vaccine costs the county 57 cents directly. But he said this does not include all the other costs of operation.

Penndel Firemen Put Out Levittown Blaze

A stove flared in a Levittown home last night, bringing volunteers from the Penndel Fire Co. on the run.

Firemen, under the direction of Gerhart Keller, unit engineer, squelched flames in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Scherzinger, 26 Harmony Road, Highland Park.

Keller said a pan on the electric range caught fire and melted, causing about $200 damage. The pan, he said, was used for heating milk for a baby's bottle. The engineer said the water apparently evaporated, causing the pan to melt.

The fire was discovered about 10:10 p.m. Property at risk, Chief

Sam Simon said, was estimated at $14,500.

Satchmo Armstrong Takes Turn For Worse

SPOLETO, Italy (UPI)—Louis (Satchmo) Armstrong took a turn for the worse Wednesday night in his bout with bronchial pneumonia complicated by heart trouble, doctors said today.

A communique issued by doctors said the jazz king "encountered a crisis" around 2 a.m. (9 p.m. e.d.t.) although he had been thought recovering from an attack of pneumonia suffered earlier this week.

The doctors said by 7 a.m., his condition was "stationary" and that he showed only "slight improvement" by 10:40 a.m.

Opponents See Sunday Sales Measure Unconstitutional

HARRISBURG (UPI) — Opponents of legislation which would stiffen penalties against retail establishments selling so-called non-essentials on Sundays charged during a public hearing that the measure is unconstitutional.

Before the largest crowd to attend such a hearing in Harrisburg in recent years, they contended that the measure violated basic law in regard to religion.

Levittowner Gets Job With Authority

Benjamin Feldman, 31-year-old Levittowner, has been hired as assistant managing engineer for the Lower Bucks County Joint Municipal Authority, it was announced today.

Feldman has lived at 23 Basswood Road, Blue Ridge for the past five years.

The position was just recently created. Feldman, who holds a master's degree in civil engineering from New York University, is expected to start work under Paul X. Blattler, the authority's managing engineer.

Active In Community

The authority supplies water and sewer facilities to Levittown and nearby communities.

Feldman and his wife, Lenore, have been active in community affairs since they moved to Levittown. He is a director of the Levittown Junior Chamber of Commerce and also vice president of the Clara Barton PTA. Mrs. Feldman has been in the past worked with the Levittown Rescue Squad.

Charles Lucisano, chairman of the authority, said seven persons took the civil service examination for the position. The test was given by the Pennsylvania State Civil Service Commission, May 16.

"We are pleased that Mr. Feldman, who placed first in the examination, has agreed to accept the position." His training and experience should prove a valuable asset to the authority," Lucisano said.

Feldman the father of three children has been associated with the firm of Buck, Seyfert and Jost, Consulting Engineers of New York, since 1954. His experience with the firm includes designing of water filtration and sewage treatment plants and layout of water and sewer lines.

8,000 Idled In Strikes

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Wildcat steel strikes spread today, idling more than 8,000 workers in five cities.

The latest walkouts occurred Wednesday night at Birmingham, Ala., when pickets halted operations of Wenonah Mining and Sintering and the Fairfield coke works of Tennessee Coal and Iron, a subsidiary of U.S. Steel Corp.

About 50 pickets, bearing signs saying "Conrad Cooper is Unfair to the Human Race," idled the Wenonah works and about 80 pickets halted operations at the Fairfield coke works.

Cooper heads the industry team in bargaining sessions with the United Steelworkers Union.

Train Must Go On, Despite Play

The audience at last night's performance of "The Loud Red Patrick" thought they were watching "Hillzapoppin'" for a few minutes.

It was near the end of the second act when a door of the theatre opened and a man dressed in coveralls and carrying a lantern entered.

The man was half-way down the theatre before house manager Jack Boylan caught up with him. He turned out to be a railroad engineer whose rail car was being blocked by a parked car near the theatre.

The engineer was ready to start calling out the license number of the parked car, but Boylan persuaded him to wait until the end of the act.

After the license number was announced, the car owner, under scrutiny of most of the audience, moved his vehicle. "All of which goes to prove the train must go on," Boylan commented later.

Children Free

During the runs of "The Loud Red Patrick" and "Harvey" at the Bristol Playhouse, children under 12 years old will be admitted free of charge.

"We are doing this because both of these plays are wholesome family plays," co-producer Norman Kean said today. He said the children must be accompanied by their parents.

$8,000 Spent By Democrats

An expense report of $8,074.03, spent mostly in the May 19 primary election has been filed with the Bucks County Board of Elections by the County Democratic Executive Committee.

The county Democrat organization nominated its slate with Commissioners John T. Welsh and Adolph A. Andrews against two independent Democrats. The expense file also included the cost of a bus trip to the inauguration of Gov. David L. Lawrence in Harrisburg.

The Democratic organization started out with a cash balance of $5,837.47. Donations of $9,119.59 were collected for a total fund of $14,957.06.

The Philadelphia County Democratic Executive Committee and the Pennsylvania Democratic State Committee each gave $1,000 to the Bucks Democrats.

John Coyle Kneels At Brother's Casket

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Accused kidnap-killer John Coyle, 24, paid his last respects to his brother William, 22, Wednesday night in a funeral parlor in suburban Collingdale.

John, held for the slaying of Philadelphia Patrolman James Kane on June 5, went handcuffed to a detective to the funeral parlor where the body of William was held preparatory to his burial today.

William was shot to death in a gun duel with police at Middleboro, Mass., last Wednesday clashing a nine-day manhunt for the brothers who had kidnapped a Philadelphia man and held him prisoner during their flight from this city.

John, his left hand in a steel cuff, knelt silently for three minutes before the body of William, resting in a gray metal casket.

Then he placed his right hand on that of William, and kissed it. Then he walked to where a dozen persons were seated, and shook their hands. They included Mrs. Mary Higgins, his unofficial foster mother and the boys' only friend.

Mill St. Businessmen Jump Membership 50 Per Cent

By JIM GOODMAN
Courier-Times Staff Writer

In its first attempt to revitalize the Mill Street shopping area, the Mill Street Bristol Businessmen's Association last night increased its membership by more than 50 per cent.

The increase was realized at a special dinner meeting of the association attended by 110 business and professional men at the Keystone Hotel.

Harry Danner and C. Donald Moyer arranged the meeting as an appeal for 100 per cent membership in the association by all professional and business leaders.

Danner and Moyer, vice presidents, respectively, of the Fidelity Philadelphia Trust Co. and Philadelphia National Bank, Bristol, charged that it was the responsibility of all the businessmen to see that the Mill Street area continues to progress.

The banking leaders proposed a new dues assessment scheme. If the 163 business places and professional offices subscribe to the scheme it would give the association an operating budget of $17,000.

"As it stands, 65 per cent of the merchants and professional men are not carrying their share of the promotion job for the Mill Street area," Danner said.

At the close of the meeting, 25 new members joined the association and many more indicated they would do so within the next few days.

Moyer told the businessmen that their neighbors are not their competitors. He said the businessmen must unite their efforts to keep the shopping area competitive with nearby shopping centers.

Businessmen along Mill Street have been divided for about five years. The meeting called by Danner and Moyer was aimed at healing old wounds among the business leaders.

The new scale of membership dues includes memberships at $50 a year and monthly memberships from as high as $50 a month to as low as $3 a month.

Emphasizing the value of membership, Danner said the association is largely responsible for bringing about the municipal parking lot, the Anthony Niccol by-pass, moonlight cruises along the Delaware, the Washington's Birthday sale and other business and community promotions.

Moyer said the businessmen must improve the Mill Street area. He listed a new food super market, recently turned down by borough council, as one of the objectives of the association.

The anonymous executioner, from outside the state, threw the switch the first time at 2:03 a.m. Starkweather's body surged upward and outward against the heavy straps as the 1,200 volts struck. The second surge one minute later caused a crackling noise in the chamber. Three more charges, each hurling the slayer's inert body against its bonds, were dealt the killer.

Full Speed Ahead

Classes Set At Levittown's Five Pools

The Levittown Public Recreation Association free swimming lessons in cooperation with the Lower Bucks County Red Cross will start on Monday, at 9 a.m. at all five Levittown pools.

The classes will run for two 3-week periods from Monday through Thursday, four days each week.

The first three week period will run from June 29 to July 16. The second instruction period will start July 27 and run through Aug. 13.

The free swimming lessons are available to the children of all LPRA subscribers. To be admitted to the classes the children must be able to stand up in the shallow end of the large pool (3 feet deep). The boys and girls may register for the Red Cross Beginners, Intermediate, and Swimmers Program. Registration cards may be secured from the Gate Guards at the five Levittown pools.

During the instruction periods, the pools will be open for general swimming at 10:30 a.m. in the morning.

The life guards responsible for this program are Pat Henis and Beryl Bailey at Brook Park Pool; Robert Bartlett and Barbara Wilson at Magnolia Park Pool; Fran Sullivan and Dot Wagner at Pine Lake Pool; Nancy Albaugh at Indian Creek; and Carla Stephens at Country Club Pool. A large group of volunteers assist the life guards in this program. People interested may still volunteer at each of the pools.

Adult classes in Red Cross Beginners, Junior and Senior Life Saving will begin after July 4. These classes will be held at all the pools.

seriously injured they would die later.

Of the other 20 million injured, about 7,300,000 would suffer blast and burn injuries and about 12,700,000 would suffer from intense radiation of early, local fallout.

"About three out of every four people in the United States would survive," Quindlen said.

Two GOP members of the subcommittee, Reps. Craig Hosmer (Calif.) and James E. Van Zandt (Pa.), emphasized that the assumed conditions were hypothetical and might have little relation to a real H-bomb war.

Hosmer said that in view of what he has read the OCDM casualty figures "are actually less than I had anticipated."

Going In Circles

By MAURY ALLEN

Small world department:

Middletown Township constable Dominick Spadaccino went to the Bristol Playhouse last night to see Pat O'Brien in the Loud Red Patrick.

It was the first time Spadaccino had seen O'Brien since World War II days. The actor was entertaining troops in the Far East where Spadaccino served as a medical corpsman. They often went to remote areas together to aid and entertain the members of the Flying Tigers.

After the play, Spadaccino went backstage. The conversation went like this:

"Bet you don't remember me, Irishman," Spadaccino said.

"Spadaccino, Well I'll be . . . the actor said.

"And a child shall lead." In a lot of things, youngsters on Iris Road in Indian Creek, Levittown, are holding little plays this week to raise funds for youngsters who attend the school for emotionally disturbed children.

Mrs. Jos. Schulman, 15 Iris Road, Indian Creek, reports that the children usually do this kind of thing to raise ice cream money for themselves.

They are very thrilled to be helping these other children," Mrs. Schulman said.

Volunteers will canvass Fairless Hills Saturday to raise funds for the community's annual field day, scheduled this year for August 15.

Falls Township Supervisor Edward Howley is chairman of the field day committee.

One of the features of this year's program may be a fireworks display. This was discontinued last year but may be restored this summer.

Park Land Tract Middletown Twp. To Inspect Homes

Middletown Township Supervisors will inspect the Park Land Association homes Saturday to decide how many of those homes will be condemned as fire hazards.

Building Inspector Samuel Lees has listed 13 homes as unsafe in the area where residents are attempting to cut through legal encumbrances to give them clear title to their homes.

45 Residents

The Park Land Association is an organization of 45 residents who raised $45,000 or $1,000 each to purchase the land that their homes have been on since before World War I.

Before the 45 residents purchased the land, the 80 homes in the housing project were built on rented land. The Park Land homes are located on Route 1, south of Pennell.

Since the land has been purchased, the Park Land Association has gone $15,000 in the hole with legal fees and other costs that will enable them to sell the Park Land tract to individual home owners.

The association has presented plans to the township supervisors for sub-dividing the property among the home owners.

However, the township supervisors have indicated they will not approve the new plans for the projects until the homes meet with minimum township requirements.

Heated Discussion

The Saturday inspection was arranged during a heated discussion between Township Supervisors Walter S. Farley Jr. and Raymond H. Secules after last night's meeting of the township supervisors.

Farley wanted the questionable properties condemned as of last night. Secules said he would not vote to condemn the properties without first inspecting them.

50-Acre Croydon Swamp Doomed

The way was cleared for the elimination of one of Croydon's biggest swamps at last night's meeting of the Bristol Township Board of Commissioners.

The commissioners approved plans to extend a storm sewer pipe through an eight-foot high dike at a boat basin on the Ne-shaminy Creek.

The dike had blocked completion of the 1,190 foot storm sewer which is designed to drain the 50-acre swamp between Cedar and Excelsior Aves.

Operators of the boat basin, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Bradley agreed to permit the township to put the pipe through the dike. They also agreed to pay the labor costs involved. The township agreed to pay for the pipe.

Township officials claimed that the dike, created last winter when the Bradleys dug out their boat basin, blocked a natural stream. Several commissioners wanted to take legal action to force the Bradleys to reopen the stream.

The arrangements approved last night were seen as a compromise worked out through conferences. Most of the work on the storm sewer is finished. It runs from the creek up Delaware Ave. to the beginning of the swamp at Cedar Ave.

Earlier in the meeting the commissioners opened bids for two road projects and the installation of a sewer main to Green Lynne.

Saba Construction Company, of Hulmeville was apparent low bidder on two of the projects and Meredith Construction Paving Company apparently was low bidder on the third.

The two projects on which Saba submitted the lowest proposals were the reconstruction of Cedar Ave., between State Road and River Road, Croydon, and laying the sewer main.

Meredith was low on the reconstruction of Magnolia Road between Bath Road to Beaver Dam Road.

Saba's price for rebuilding the slightly more than half-mile stretch of Cedar Ave. was $36,896.50. This was just $46 lower than the bid of Kauffman Brothers of Langhorne. Other bidders were Industrial Construction of Croydon, and Meredith.

Saba also beat out Kauffman for the sewer main project. The low bid was $6,005 compared to Kauffman's $6,262.

Meredith's bid for the three-fifths of a mile Magnolia Road was $34,574.25. This beat out Saba by just $214. Industrial and

Won't Act Now

The commissioners decided to wait until next week before acting on the bids. At the same time they will also award the contract for rebuilding the section Mill Creek Road just north of Edgely Ave. Industrial was the low bidder for this.

The board voted to change its regular meeting date from the second Wednesday of the month to the third Wednesday.

The commissioners also passed an ordinance transferring the functions of the township health board to the county department. It was explained that the county will allow the township to still handle the issuing of permits for septic tanks and cesspools. The township plumbing official will issue the permits as in the past, eatia ns insocn yrw 'Cgot

Bargain City's new store on Route 413 and Durham Road touched off a heated discussion among the commissioners.

James D. Monte, the lone Republican on the board, asked why the firm was allowed to open for business before it was given an occupancy permit. He also questioned the safety of the new addition erected at the market.

Monte made a motion to close the huge market until it obtained an occupancy permit. This was seconded by Eugene G. Kehoe.

However, this action was tabled for a week on a motion by Frank Seader. The move to table was carried by a seven-to-three vote. Joining Kehoe and Monte in opposing the motion was Leonard B. Sokolove.

Clarence Bixler, township enforcement officer, said an occupancy permit was never issued because the new building was never "certified" by township inspectors.

He said it is customary for inspectors to wait until the building is complete before "certifying" the work. Work is still going on at the market.

Prisoner Dies Of Injury Suffered In Riot

No Reason Given Yet For Outbreak

SPRINGFIELD, Mo. (UPI)—A prisoner hurt when lawmen crushed a 16-hour riot in the homosexual wing of the U.S. Medical Center died last night of a fractured skull.

He was Richard Smith of Salt Lake City, a 24-year-old inmate serving seven years for threatening to kill or harm the President of the United States.

Meanwhile, Warden Russell O. Settle said he is in no hurry to take action against the ringleaders of the riot. He said he and his staff have found no rational explanation for the outbreak.

He said Earl C. Taylor, 31, of Phenix City, Ala., "one of the most vicious prisoners in the entire federal prison system," was the principal ringleader. Taylor's two lieutenants were identified as Bryan D. Reed, 24-year-old murderer from Los Angeles, and Carl Roberts, 19, of Kansas City, who is serving time for car theft.

Sixth v.a. injured when 100 officers stormed the wing where 106 homosexual and mental patients held five guards captive with knives at their throats. It was not made clear how Smith was injured; whether by officers in the attack force, by another prisoner, or by accident.

Settle said he was in no hurry to take action against the rioters because "mental responsibility" is involved.

A board of inquiry continued to question inmates searching for the reason behind the riot.

"I think it was just a compulsive, aggressive act," Settle said. "They haven't been able to name any of the demands they said they would make, nor give a rational reason."

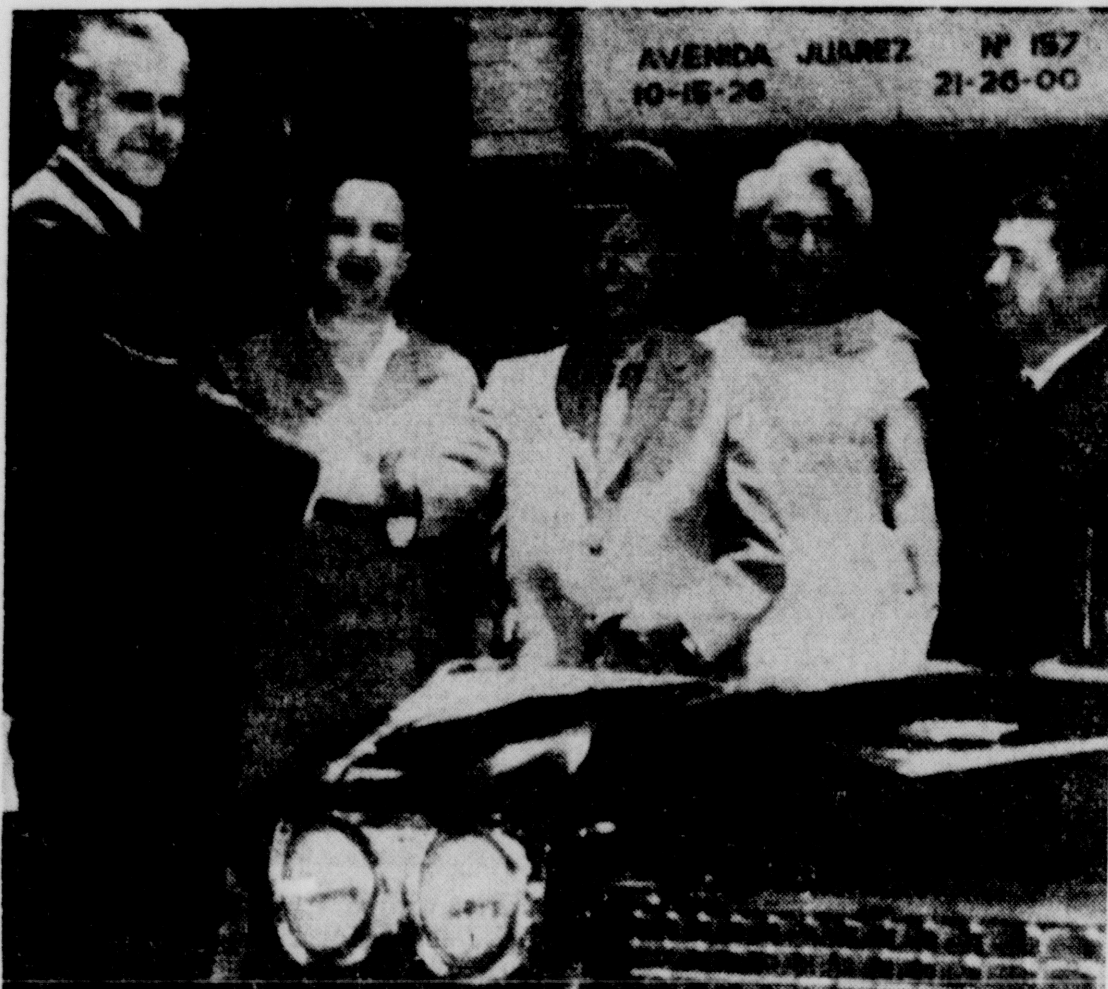

Long Asks For Prayers

BATON ROUGE, La. (UPI)—Gov. Earl K. Long appealed to the people of Louisiana in a smuggled tape recording Wednesday night to pray him out of the mental hospital into which he said he was railroaded by his "jealous" wife and ambitious nephew, U.S. Sen. Russell B. Long.

Political observers speculated the colorful meandering stump-type speech, broadcast on radio stations throughout the state might draw thousands of political supporters to the Covington Junior High School basketball court where Long will appear for a district court habeas corpus proceeding Friday.

His wife, Mrs. Blanche Long, whom he bitterly accused of conspiring with his political enemies, fled the state Tuesday indicating she would make no further effort to force mental treatment on her husband. Friends said she believed he would be released at Friday's hearing and feared his alleged "homicidal tendencies."

Gov. Long Recording Asks People To Pray Him Out

WASHINGTON (UPI)—William J. Poch, business manager of the Pittsburgh Sun-Telegraph, testified today that the newspaper paid more than $100,000 in salaries and rentals to a Teamster official to keep labor peace.

Poch told the Senate Rackets Committee the Teamster-Theodore Cozza, president of Local 211—did little work for the paper although he was kept on the payroll for nine years.

Asked why this was done, Poch said it was "for fear of disturbing labor relations." He agreed with Committee Chairman John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) that it amounted to a method of obtaining labor peace.

The committee offered figures to show that Cozza got $68,056.40 in salary and expenses from his Teamster local over the same period—plus a $7,000 1959 Cadillac. When tax authorities protested his claim that a union-paid $3,000 European trip was a gift, the local paid the taxes, too, a committee expert said.

Office And Phone It also was brought out that Cozza, whose local represents truck drivers for Pittsburgh newspapers, was furnished an office and a telephone by the Sun-Telegraph.

Committee investigator Pierre Salinger testified there had been complaints that Cozza, who had an extensive police record, was using the office to operate a numbers racket. He said the newspaper paid more than $1,000 in telephone bills for the Teamster official.

Poch was the first witness called as the committee opened a new two-weeks investigation of

Bucks Republicans To Meet Saturday

Saturday the Republicans of Bucks county will be converging on Doylestown for the annual meeting of the Bucks County Republican committee. Activities are scheduled to begin at one o'clock at the Doylestown Armory.

George I. Bloom, State Republican Chairman who was Administrative Assistant to Sen. Edward B. Martin, will be the main speaker. Also, expected to speak are Congressman Willard S. Curtin, State Senator Marvin V. Keller, Assembly Woman Margarette S. Kooker, and Assemblyman Alan D. Williams, Jr.

Chairman will be County Republican leader Frederick E. Ziegler, who will introduce the many honored guests expected to attend. All the County Candidates also will be there to talk individually with the voters and workers.

Ziegler said he expected a large turnout of committee people, party workers and voters because of the importance of the coming General Election in which the County Commission Seats are at stake.

It's Tough To Make A Million Here

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Soviet citizens are reading how tough it is to make a million in the United States.

The new issue of the U.S.-published "America Illustrated" is telling its Soviet readers that federal taxes, state taxes, municipal taxes, gift and estate taxes have brought an end to the day when economic power was concentrated in the hands of the few.

In an article about U.S. income, the magazine notes that American workers average nearly $5,000 a year income and tells how many are investing in the stock market to increase their income.

The magazine also has articles about the New York exhibition hall where the Soviet show opens next week, about new modern American embassies abroad, Broadway actresses, the sports car craze and color television.

The Soviet reader can see pictures of how many Americans try to beat the heat in the summer-time and how American gymnasts are training to beat the Soviets at the 1960 Olympic Games.

There also is an article that describes the growth and development of Sears, Roebuck Co. from its founding in 1893.

The article about income lays heavy emphasis on the improvement of the working man's lot since the turn of the century.

It notes that the first decade of the 1930's "found America's reform movement denouncing concentrated economic power and the resulting extremes of wealth and poverty."

Runaway Truck Hits 3 Homes, 3 Killed

DULUTH, Minn. (UPI)—A loaded grain truck ran out of control Wednesday night down a steep, curving street, smashed into an automobile, then jumped a curb and plowed through three homes.

Three persons were dead, four others injured, three houses virtually destroyed and the truck and automobile demolished.

Police found parts of the truck's transmission two and one-half miles up the scenic drive from the spot where the vehicle, its load of oats scattered, finally lunged to a halt partially inside the third home it hit.

Officers said truck driver Ralph Redlin, 50, of Ellendale, N.D., apparently lost the transmission when he tried to shift at a sign warning: "Trucks shift into lower gear."

The bodies of Redlin and his wife, Ruby, 34, were found inside the telescoped truck when it was pulled from a gaping hole in the home of Earl T. Hayes. He and his wife, Ruth, 61, suffered cuts and bruises.

4 Teeners Held In $25,000 Bail On Rape Charge

NEW YORK (UPI)—Four Negro teen-agers were held in $25,000 bail each today pending further hearing into their alleged rape of a 14-year-old white girl who has testified she promised sexual intimacies to one of them.

The girl, whose name was withheld, testified in felony court yesterday that she made the promise to Jacob Bethea, 16, when he made a move to go further during a 10-minute kissing session with her. She said she only made the promise to get rid of him, that she was "only fooling him."

She said she told him that night, Monday, June 15, that she would allow the intimacies on "Tuesday or Wednesday of the following week." The kissing episode occurred at Junior High School 16, where she is a student and where a night recreation center is provided for youngsters.

Later that same Monday night, she testified, Bethea grabbed her by the legs outside the school and tried to drag her up the stairs. She said she resisted and "yelled for him to leave me alone," that "he started acting like a wild dog and I said, 'get out of here, animal.'" Nothing more happened that night, apparently.

Three nights later, June 18, the alleged multiple rape occurred. Outside the recreation center, she said, Bethea "pulled a gun from his pocket" and placed it at her cheek. Then he seized her and dragged her, screaming and kick-chief. She demonstrated the scream in court.

She pointed out in the courtroom defendants Bethea and John Rich, also 16, as having assaulted her sexually. She said the other two, Henry Stokes, 16, and Edward Jacobs, 17, held her during the assault and also molested her sexually.

Two other Negroes, one aged 15 accused of having helped hold her down and the other, 14, accused of standing lookout, were sent by a Children's Court judge for psychiatric examination before sentencing.

The girl, husky, five-foot-six-inch dark-eyed, with reddish-brown hair, was calm on the stand. Her left eye was still badly discolored. She said her legs had been badly bruised and her arms battered.

When the defense cross examination dragged, Magistrate Milton Solomon, presiding in the adolescent section of Queens Felony Court, adjourned the hearing until Friday. He continued the $25,000 bail.

ENJOY THE CONVENIENCE OF PNB Credit Checks

The Philadelphia National Bank's "write-a-check" credit plan that pre-establishes your bank credit—lets you draw against it as you wish PNB CREDIT CHECKS provide a practical, convenient way to put your own good credit to work—by drawing checks against it to pay bills, to provide for vacations or taxes or medical expenses—to buy just about anything you need. And the amount of credit you can draw against, is based on you.

Here's How It Works. You decide how much you can afford to repay every month. Multiply that amount by twenty—and the result is your maximum credit, against which you can write PNB CREDIT CHECKS as soon as your application has been approved—for instance...

You can pay monthly	Your Maximum Credit
$30	$ 600
$40	$ 800
$50	$1,000
$60	$1,200
$75	$1,500
$100	$2,000... and so on

Cost? The interest rate on PNB CREDIT CHECKS (just 1% per month) is charged when you begin using your credit. Then only on the amount you have used—and only for the exact number of days that amount is outstanding. Up to age 65, you are covered by life insurance on any unpaid balance, at no additional cost to you. Get Your Application Now. You can get a PNB CREDIT CHECK Application Form at any Philadelphia National office—or simply fill in and mail the coupon.

Lower Makefield To Air Requests

The Lower Makefield Township Board of Adjustments will hold three public hearings at the municipal building, Edgewood Road at 8 p.m. Wednesday, July 1, announced William Struwe, township manager.

John Lelak will request that the township allow him to construct a single dwelling house on River Road in the Lippman tract. In Lelak's case, a total of 20,000 square feet of lot is required. He has only 15,000 square feet.

The second request to be considered by the board will come from Erwin Smith, who wishes to enlarge and occupy a vacant house. The house has been vacant for more than three years and is located on River Road.

A request, similar to that of Smith's will be presented to the board by Marie Szatmarie. The house in question is located on Woodside Road.

According to Struwe, a township ordinance provides that, "any

Council Hits Plan To Funnel Traffic Along Boro Street

By ANTHONY PATTERSON
Courier-Times Staff Writer

Residents of Yardley and Lower Makefield are still vigorously protesting against the highway department's lack of speed in erecting a by-pass. The proposed bypass, is designed to take traffic away from the Yardley area when the Scudders Falls Bridge is built. About twenty, area residents were on hand at a meeting of the Yardley Council last night to witness the passing of a resolution protesting the highway department's plan to funnel traffic into Yardley via the Taylorsville Road.

Only moments before the Yardley meeting, the Lower Makefield Board of Supervisors adopted a similar resolution. The resolutions of the two communities, along with a joint letter will be sent to Park Martin, secretary of the Pennsylvania Highway Department.

Roads Fixed In Township Says Struwe

Lower Makefield Township Manager William Struwe announced today that steps have been taken to aid in the correction of a resident's drainage problem.

George Kelly, a resident of Penn Valley, recently appeared at a meeting of the township supervisors to complain that after heavy rains, water was crossing his neighbors' driveway and running onto his lawn. He lives at the corner of Riverdale and Manor Lane West.

To correct the situation, Struwe said, the township regraded the ditch line on the south side of Riverdale Road by putting in stone to form a permanent shoulder.

On Kelly's side of the Riverdale Road, the township put in a black top gutter, which runs for about 15 feet. The gutter lies between Kelly's property and his neighbor's driveway.

In other matters, Struwe announced that the township last week resurfaced Effingham Road for a distance of two-tenths of a mile.

Piping Project Nears Finish

The first year's work on the piping of a creek in Morrisville is almost completed, according to Morrisville Borough Secretary Robert Steward.

The entire project which will take about three years to complete, will run from Bridge St. and follow the present path of the creek through the borough. The piping will eventually run into the third ward.

Presently, reports Steward, about 650 feet of pipe has already been laid. The pipe comes in 12 foot sections and 51 sections are in place.

The project for this year will end at Barclay Ave., added the borough secretary.

A crew of eight men is working on the piping job under the direction of Public Works Superintendent Walter Neumann.

The work and materials are being paid for through a matching fund set up between the borough and the county. The matching fund calls for the borough to put up $5,000 each year for three years. The county will match that amount.
